

LESSONS OF THE TITANIC HEEDED ON PACIFIC COAST STEAMERS

The lifeboat deck of the steamer Beaver, showing added equipment. The four boats lashed on either side of the skylight, enclosed by the dotted line, have been added since the loss of the Titanic. Further forward are life rafts and other boats. The life-saving apparatus now includes 17 lifeboats and eight life rafts. These will carry 974 persons, although the Beaver is allowed only 714 passenger capacity in addition to its crew of 85 men.

Each lifeboat has a mast and sails, oars, boathooks, hatchets, knives, rope ladders, matches, sea biscuits, water, rope, rudder and life-preservers. Boat drills are held each week.

—o—o—
•When a girl says "Save your money" to a man then it is right for the fellow to be cautious for his finish is in sight.